

Birds You'll See on JDSF Trees

I look a lot like a Hairy, but our last common ancestor was six million years ago.

Pileated Woodpecker

I'm the largest woodpecker in North America.

I may be a Hairy Woodpecker, but I don't have any hair — only feathers.

I am bold and chatty. I live with my extended family and we all help raise the chicks. We also store acorns by sticking hundreds of them in dead trees.

Downy Woodpecker

I drill holes in trees and drink the sap.

Acorn Woodpecker

Red-Breasted Sapsucker